Town beefs up utilities bylaw

The Town of Elk Point took action last week to ensure that pollutants will not find their way into the local sewer system, with the passage of a new beefed-up Utilities Bylaw. Additions to the previous bylaw were made with the advice of the Town's legal counsel and allow the Town to take action against anyone who releases pollutants into the sewer system, whether from a residence, business or industry.

Public works had a prominent role in Council's February agenda, with a series of recommendations from the Public Works Committee discussed prior to including them in the 1997 budget.

Upgrading of the sewage lagoon, in order to comply with Alberta Environment's regulations, will cost the Town $94,000, which will come from the General Contingency Capital Reserves, while the purchase of a new loader backhoe to replace the current unit will cost roughly $50,000 from the Equipment Capital Reserve. It was agreed to continue earmarking one mill of tax dollars for the equipment reserve, in order to prepare for replacement of the 1980-model grader.

Another upcoming expense will be the installation of water and sewer on 51 Ave. between 45 and 46 Streets, and north on 45 Street for the width of two lots, at an approximate cost of $70,000, from the Water Line Replacement Capital Reserve. A road will also be built in that area, as more industrial lots are developed.

Tree roots encroaching on sewer lines are a problem in several areas of town, including 52

Lions honor longtime member

Elk Point and District Lions Club honored charter member Karl Heinemann with the presentation of the international service club's highest honor, a Melvin Jones Fellowship for humanitarianism, at the club's 26th anniversary gathering last week.

District Governor Jim Taylor, in attendance with his wife who is also a Lions member, presented Heinemann with the award, noting that Heinemann has always been ready to help with projects, and although declining health has slowed his activities somewhat, he still faithfully attends meetings. Nancy Heinemann had the proud duty of affixing a commemorative pin to her husband's jacket.

Another charter member of the club, Walter Saranchuk, received a 25-year chevron, while Doug Bassett received a 10-year chevron. Ron Smith, who was not in attendance, also qualified for a 25-year chevron.

Two Judge Brian Stevenson Awards were presented to Marshall Kachmar and Doug Bassett in recognition of their efforts on behalf of the Lions.

Five new members were inducted into the club by District Governor Taylor, with the able assistance of Zone Chairman Allan Reed. Elk Point Lioness Club President Carol Lee and Lion Glenn Flanders also took part in the moving candlelight ceremony which saw David Walter, Peter Fuller, Lyle Frisby, Mike McDonald and Keith Campbell welcomed to the worldwide family of Lions International.

The District Governor congratulated the Elk Point Lions and Lioness on all their numerous projects, and said their work in the community was admirable, as was the recruitment of new members. Taylor said there are 1120 Lions members in the district, and while 66 new members have been brought in, 71 have been lost, including three who have passed away. The average age for membership is 61, with some clubs having an average age of 70-plus. "We're losing hands-on members. You have a reasonable degree of youth in your club — we old dodgers are getting burned out." He urged Elk Point to "just keep it up," to strengthen retention of present members, to be prepared to accept change and to seek meaningful projects. He suggested that they "build a bridge of partnerships with like organizations in the community" and with the community itself, noting that "a lot of projects don't go forward because of there is not the manpower to do them."

Building such bridges is Lions International's direct goal for this year, and Taylor encouraged, "Let us all go out and build bridges to make this a better place to live."

Elk Point and District Lions are already making the community a better place to live. Marshall Kachmar proudly displayed a plaque recently presented to the club by the Regional School Board for their contribution to the educational system through the Quest Program.

A new Reform candidate for a new constituency

By Rhonda Noyce
Staff Writer

Beaver River MP Deborah Grey said her goodbyes as she introduced the new Reform candidate for the Lakeland riding on Saturday. Leon Benoit will be Reform's new player for the next federal election and he will be representing a new riding that encompasses part of the old Beaver River Riding and part of the old Vegreville-Lloydminster riding.

Benoit won by an overwhelming majority against his only competitor for the post, Valerie Morrow. But Grey said that each person who runs for public office should be applauded.

"Anyone who puts their name forward for public office is brave. It doesn't matter if there is no 'X' beside their name."

Benoit received 198 of those 'X's and says he will do his best to get his message out on behalf of the Reform party. He is currently the MP for the Vegreville-Lloydminster riding and Reform's Interprovincial Trade Critic.

Grey gave a heartfelt speech that brought the large audience at the Ukrainian Cultural Centre to their feet with thunderous applause.

"It has been a very painful one-and-a-half years for Lou and I. But I decided I didn't want to run against someone whom I've sat in Ottawa with for over three years."

And she knew that Benoit wasn't very portable with a large family and a farm to look after. Therefore, Grey decided to run in the Edmonton North riding.

BUBBLES WIN PACERS 24th ANNUAL TOURNAMENT -- Edmonton- and Calgary-based Bubbles defeated Edmonton Shooters to win the Elk Point Pacers 24th Annual basketball tournament this weekend. MVP was the Bubbles' Richard Bohne. Bubbles players Curt Osterman, Mark Wiebe, Curtis Averill and Andre Richard were part of the Allstar team. Edmonton Sizzlers won the Consolation award.

Street south of the curling rink. Whether these trees must be cut down, or other measures will control the roots, was discussed. A device called a Vapor Rooter, which dispenses foam containing a herbicide into the sewer pipes, is to be purchased at the cost of approximately $5000. The herbicide apparently stops root growth but does not kill the tree, and if effective, could be used to treat problems in over 30 services around town.

Also added to the 1997 budget was an approximate $6000 for fencing the west side and the remainder of the south side of the East Cemetery.

Council hosted two delegations at the meeting. Ashton Sewlal and Terry Poulin of Alberta Power came to discuss their new Franchise Agreement with the Town, while Jim MacLellan and Sid Holthe brought information about the planned Interagency Health Committee, asking the Town to join the agencies who will confer on a monthly basis to compile Elk Point's health-related needs for presentation to the Community Health Council. It is hoped that the Interagency committee will avoid duplication of efforts and may reduce some of the volunteer work done in the health sector.

Nomination

The Reform nomination vote for Edmonton North took place last Thursday night and Grey wasn't contested.

"I can't back down now," Grey said with a chuckle.

At the end of the evening, Grey passed a lantern on to Benoit, symbolizing the one, small light in the House of Commons when Grey was the only elected Reform MP in 1989.

No injuries in oilfield rollover

Narrow roads made even narrower by the winter's heavy snowfall contributed to an oilfield vehicle rollover Sunday night in the Ferguson Flats area.

The driver of a vacuum truck pulled over when he met a farm vehicle and rolled into the ditch when his wheels caught the edge of the road. Both vehicles were going "about two miles an hour" according to Elk Point RCMP, and no charges will be laid. There were no injuries and none of the truck's load was spilled.

Elk Point Fire Department

were called in to extinguish a fire which engulfed the cab of the truck after the accident. Another oilfield truck working in the area also assisted in putting out the fire.

What happens in February?

By Deanna Easthope
FCSS Director

The answer to this question is that many things happen in February. Of course we know about Valentine's Day. The stores were full of nice cards, red candy and fancy chocolates. Poems were being recited and our loved ones were hearing about how much we loved them.

Then there was Teachers' Convention and our children were home from school during those days. To make this into an extra time off, Family Day occurred on Monday, February 17. So this turned out to be a nice break in the middle of our cold winter. I hope all of you were able to do some "neat" things with your families.

And now, this week, February 16 through to February 22, is Scout / Guide Week. Lord Robert Stephenson Smyth Baden-Powell of Gilwell was born on February 22, 1857, in London, England. So every year, the week that contains Lord Baden-Powell's birth date is called Scout / Guide Week. What is Elk Point doing to remember this important man and his birthday? Our local Beavers, Cubs, and Scouts will be baking and decorating their own cakes. Then on Wednesday, February 19, there will be a cake auction at the Elks Hall after the Family Banquet. You will have to come and see these cakes and take part in the Auction. Call Gloria Zarowny at 724-4374 for more details.

Just in case you think that all I know about Scouting is baking and decorating cakes, I want to tell you some things that impress me about Scouting.

Lord Baden-Powell, the man who started the Scouting movement, spent over 30 years as an officer in the British army. It was while he was soldiering that he began to develop a number of ideas about how soldiers, especially military scouts, should be trained. For example, he observed that if an army wanted to know what the enemy was doing, it had to send out military scouts to do a reconnaissance. Lord Baden-Powell thought that such scouts would be more effective if they were self-reliant. His story goes on. But, this was the beginning of his thinking for training young boys. In 1907, he took 21 boys between the ages of

Letter to the Editor

The scavengers among us

An animal dies — sickness, old age, rejection, who's to know. But even after death, a cycle of life still lingers.

"The Scavenger" picks and pursues until the lifeless animal is just merely some dusty bones waiting to age with the seasons. All this done, the scavenger has fulfilled his purpose in life and continues on to benefit on another death.

Amazingly enough, scavengers do not only show themselves as animals, but live among us as humans. They feast on the down and out, the out of place, and the unsure. Their meals seem to never end and get bigger as time passes. All in all, they thrive off of other people's grief, despair and hardships. They do eventually finish (never full) and lick their fingers just in time to start devouring another poor soul.

The scavenger presented here is the GOSSIPER. Famous for its sharp tongue, heartless soul, two faces, and a black heart. Known better for its far-from-the-truth 'facts,' fictional stories and lying through its teeth.

These scavengers have no purpose for what they do. At least when nature's scavengers feast, they wait until their victims are dead before they rip their hearts out.

50 Years of Canadian citizenship

Glimpses into our country's past:

Canada 1947-1957

As the world emerged from the darkness and horror of the Second World War, a new international order began to take shape. Old Empires began to dissolve and new countries were born. Canada's commitment and sacrifice earned it a respected place within the new community of nations. As countries around the world began to rebuild their cities and economies, Canada was looked to for leadership and aid.

January 1, 1947, the first Canadian Citizenship Act came into effect. Before that time, people living in this country were considered 'British subjects, residing in Canada.' The passage of this Act was symbolic of Canada's new found status as a middle power. Men and women across the country could now proudly call themselves "Canadian" and hold a passport unique to their country.

Between 1947 and 1957. Canada enjoyed a substantial economic and demographic boom. During this time, the birth rate was exceptionally high, and a massive influx of newcomers arrived at our borders. These people helped Canada take advantage of the opportunities of this new era of prosperity.

As Canadian servicemen returned from Europe, many brought new wives with them. Over 41,000 "war brides" had met, and fallen in love with Canadian servicemen during the war. For many, the trip to Canada was a romantic adventure to a strange and foreign land. For all of them, it was a bitter-sweet and emotional time as they bid farewell to loved ones they never expected to see again.

Six years of savage war had disrupted European trade and had caused the collapse of many national economies. As a result, many Europeans looked upon emigration to Canada as a means to escape the unemployment and economic dislocation which afflicted the continent. Canada represented the promise of a brighter future.

A strong friendship had developed between Canada and the Netherlands over the years. Canada had provided refuge for members of the Dutch Royal family in 1940, and it was Canadian troops who liberated the region in May, 1945. This, coupled with the significant Dutch presence already established in Canada, was enough to encourage many to make the journey across the Atlantic. The Canadian government welcomed Dutch immigrants in the hopes that they would fill vital jobs in the agricultural sector. Almost 185,000 entered Canada between 1947 and 1957, the vast majority choosing to settle on farms in Southern Ontario and southern and central Alberta. Over the years, Dutch farmers made profound contributions to agriculture in this country, introducing a number of innovations which allowed our farms to become more productive and competitive.

Canadian industry was growing quickly and needed laborers to fill the rapidly expanding factories. As a result, the government encouraged family sponsorship of immigrants in the hopes of attracting newcomers. Many Italians and Portuguese took advantage of these changes in the immigration rules, coming to Canada and settling primarily in large cities like Toronto and Montreal. Stonemasons and craftspeople helped give our cities a distinctive flair, while industrial workers

Heart Month

Dining out — the heart healthy way

Lakeland Regional Health Authority
Alberta Heart Health Project

If you are like many people these days, you eat out more than you may think. This can take its toll on an otherwise healthy diet. February is Heart Month and a good time to look at making heart-healthier choices when dining.

Choose your restaurant carefully. Whenever possible, go to a place where the menu is large and varied. There are bound to be more healthy choices there.

Look for low fat cues. Choose menu items that are broiled, roasted, poached, baked, boiled, steamed or in their own juice. Some lower fat entrees are: a small grilled steak, a chicken breast (no skin), baked fish or pasta with tomato sauce. Served with low fat sauces such as cranberry or salsa, they are tasty, heart healthy dishes. When in doubt about what is your best menu choice, think simple and plain. In other words, choose a plain hamburger instead of a cheeseburger or a baked potato instead of a stuffed one.

Ask for what you want... you're the boss! Ask for a salad with your sandwich instead of fries or potato chips it normally comes with. Choose plain rice or a baked potato in place of the fries with your dinner. Ask for milk with your coffee instead of cream. Ask for low fat salad dressings. Consider having them "hold the mayo" on your sandwich.

Go easy on higher fat sauces and spreads. Control the amount of higher fat add-ons like salad dressing, gravy, butter, margarine and cream by asking for these "on the side." Buttering your own bread or toast (or not buttering at all), as well as dressing your own salad, will keep you in control of these often high fat, high calorie foods.

Share with a friend. Sharing an order of deep fried zucchini sticks or a slice of double chocolate cheesecake with a friend is a great way to satisfy that desire while helping keep your diet in check.

Listen to your body's signals. Full before your plate is empty? If so, either have the food packaged up for you to take home or simply leave it behind. Take pleasure in knowing you are listening to the signals your body is sending you.

And bon appetit!

Elk Point Junior Elks Atoms

The Elk Point Junior Elks hosted a 12-team Atom tournament on the weekend of February 6 to 9. Teams from as far away as Fort McMurray, Meadow Lake and Edmonton travelled to play. There was fast and hard-played hockey in this tournament with the final game ending up with K of C Knights from Edmonton emerging as the winner over Fort McMurray Double A Barons. The Edmonton Oil Kings were third and the Elk Point Junior Elks fourth.

The Junior Elks would like to thank all the parents who helped make our tournament a success, and the coaches of our team. Thank you also to the following sponsors: Luciak Bus Services, Hoffman's Water Hauling, E-Can Oilfield Services, Shamrock Valley Enterprises Ltd., Pan Canadian Petroleum and Banana Hill Farms.

Thunder doubles Mallaig in league play

By Doug Bassett
Elk Point Thunder

Thursday night the Thunder travelled to Mallaig to play a make-up league game, coming out on top 6-3. Two goals each by Jordan Bassett and Brad Pankiw led the way. The line of Bassett, Pankiw and Pankiw have combined for ten goals in the last two games.

What happened Sunday and Monday? Sometimes writers can get memory blocks. Well, OK, I do remember some of it. On Sunday afternoon, the Thunder took one of the worst beatings in their franchise history against the big team from Vegreville. After suffering through Sunday's disaster, the game against Irma on Family Day was only half as bad. With Provincials only five weeks away, the boys have their work cut out for themselves to turn things around.

Lighting strikes LLB

Meanwhile, down on the farm, the Bantam Lightning with a very short bench defeated LacLaBiche on Saturday night 5-4. Then on Sunday with four goals by Travis Brown and two by Brett Kopeck, they had a 7-7 tie against Bonnyville.

This week the Thunder will play at home on Friday night and travel to Lashburn on Sunday.

ELK POINT MICRO NOVICE TORNADOES -- hosted a Participation Tournament on Saturday. It was the first tournament for many of these players, and an exciting experience for them all.

Best garlic sausage in Alberta

Elk Point is officially home to the best garlic sausage in Alberta. Lakeland Meat Processors brought home two awards from the Western Canadian Meat Processors Convention and Trade Show '97, held February 7 to 9 in Banff, placing first in the Smoked Sausage Competition for Garlic Sausage, and second for their Chicken Garlic Sausage.

The two awards fit right in with Lakeland's recently expanded sausage lines, which include Bratwurst and Farmer's Sausage as well as all types of fresh sausage. They also now offer chicken wings and barbecued ribs, as well as ground jerky.

The convention included sessions on inspection of products and facilities, cleaning and sanitization, plant improvement, business plans, market awareness, and safety in the workplace.

Family Day events unqualified success

By Dee Pankiw
Elk Point Thunder

Thanks to the efforts of many volunteer workers, the generous donations of business and industry, and the participation of numerous families, the Fun Family Day and Great Canadian Egg Race was a success. Midget Thunder thanks all of you.

The arena was full from 2:00 p.m. on, with bright eyed children having their faces painted, playing games in the hallway and outdoors, skating and playing games on the ice, and learning a variety of crafts. There was a good turnout of Midget players and parents to set up and keep things running, but there were also a large number of other hockey parents working their "special event" for the A. G. Ross Operating Committee. Added to this were community volunteers sharing their expertise. From the looks on the tired faces of the kids leaving the arena at 5:00 p.m., all of them carrying something they had made or won, the day was indeed a success.

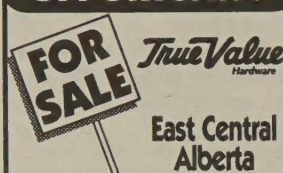

The Great Canadian Egg Race took place after the second period of the Midget hockey game. Because of the general frantic nature of the oilfield this year, there were only four entries actually iced. However, several other industries and businesses paid entry fees. They just could not find the time to design or build an eggmobile this year.

Keith Campbell piloted the first place B & R Eckels entry. He then went on to win the Calcutta. It pays to have faith in yourself! Second place was won by Noreen Energy Resources, piloted by Dave Mitchell. As a last-minute conscript, who only last Thursday was asking "What is a #64 rubber band?", Dave did OK. Third was taken by Danny Flett, piloting a remake of the Highland Corod entry. Spectators concur that they should have stuck to their original design. Fourth place belonged to Hillside Service, piloted by Dave Yake. Next year, Dave plans to use chains for added traction. None of the entries went as far as last year's, but the audience was enthusiastic, and MC Gazoo deMoissac added to the fun. Each of the four pilots went home with a trophy donated by S & T Mobile Wash and a gift certificate from Bumper to Bumper.

In terms of fun had or funds raised, the day and evening were an unqualified success. A win by the boys in the game would have been nice, but we can't have everything we want. Midget Thunder thanks all the sponsors, workers and participants for a great Family Day.

helped keep the plants running which fuelled our economy. These men and women left an indelible mark on the urban landscape of Canada.

As the decade progressed, Canada continued to mature as a country. With the addition of Newfoundland to the federation in 1949, Canada truly became a country from coast to coast.

More Young Reader's Choice nominees

By Michele Ducek
Librarian

This week we highlight the Young Reader's Choice Award nominees in the Senior Division, all of which are at the library. There is still time to participate in the voting for this award. See the librarian for details. And the nominees are:

A teenage joy-ride has tragic consequences in Driver's Ed by Caroline B. Cooney.

A young girl living in medieval England battles against doing what is expected of her and records it all in her journal in Catherine, Called Birdy by Karen Cushman.

Three over-protected children find themselves in the outside world for the first time and must learn to cope on their own in The Ear, the Eye and the Arm by Nancy Farmer.

The history of an African-American family is traced from the first one to arrive in America as a slave to the present day in Glory Field by Walter Dean Myers.

A girl in foster care has nearly reached the magic age of sixteen, the age when she can legally go out on her own, but first she must endure just one more foster family in Adam & Eve & Pinch Me by Julie Johnston. This one has already won numerous awards including the Governor General's Award for juvenile fiction.

We also have some new arrivals in our juvenile series:

Having secret Valentines causes a lot of problems for Karen's class in Karen's Secret Valentine from Baby-sitters Little Sister.

Abby finds a baby on her doorstep in Abby and the Mystery Baby, a Baby-sitters Club Mystery.

Stacey hopes that she and the math team win the state championship in Stacey the Math Whiz from Baby-sitters' Club.

While hiding from a bully, Jack Johnson finds a book called Flying Lessons and now things are getting really weird in How I Learned to Fly from Goosebumps.

Things are heating up in the stables this Valentine's Day in Stable Hearts from the Saddle Club.

The Pee Wees are taking an overnight trip to the big city to visit a museum in Moans and Groans and Dinosaur Bones from the Pee Wee Scouts.

The cockroaches in Miller's Grove have turned killer in Die, Bug, Die from The X-files. A recent addition to our series standing order.

Another challenging, exciting year for Elk Point Public Library

Elk Point Public Library has just completed another exciting but challenging year, as the steps toward automation of library circulation continued and board membership fluctuated. Board Chairman Andrew Ross said that more funding from the County of St. Paul to offset the Northern Lights Library System surcharge for County members had helped to bring rural people back to the library, but budget cuts and staffing issues continued to be a problem. However, he noted, the facility has "lots more books" and the board and staff are looking forward to the completion of the automation project this year.

Librarian Michele Ducek said it was her "most challenging year yet," and the first where she could honestly speak of having a staff. Two employment programs provided staff for both the summer reading program and working on the database, as well as assistance with circulation. Two adult volunteers, Lena Stepa and Anna May Warren, continue to be of assistance, and Amanda Leaf has taken over from Jaylene Purdy as student page. A total of 720.75 volunteer hours were tallied for the year.

Ms Ducek attended both the Alberta Library Conference and the Northern Lights Mini Conference, finding both to be interesting and informative.

Storytime continued, with the parties especially successful, including one for the librarian's birthday.

The Camp Reads-alot summer reading program was fun for all, and wound up with a visit from storyteller Merle Harris and a sleepover for reading program participants and the librarian.

A total of 414 new books were purchased for the library, and another 411 were donated. Just over 600 older books, most of them adult paperbacks were weeded from the collection, with a net gain of 210 books putting the material stock at 20,874 items. A total of 159 resident registrations, including 61 families, and 62 non-resident registrations, including 21 families, were recorded. Rural registrations are now 27.5% of the total, up 10.5 percent from last year.

Circulation continued to decline, with 14,449 items borrowed as compared to 15,887 in 1995, but this is only a 9.1% drop, compared to 15% the previous year. The children's section showed considerable recovery, with less than a 3% drop, compared with a 34% drop the previous year. Interlibrary loans increased substantially, and a very good turn-around time was noted. A total of 45 events were held in the meeting room, and four groups toured the library.
